Designing OUR FUTURE THROUGH A CULTURE OF COMMUNITY CITIZENSHIP

From serving in leadership positions of community organizations to making the largest donation to the 2011 United Way Campaign of Martinsville-Henry County to organizing fundraisers to help pay medical bills for colleagues, employees of Hooker Furniture are active community citizens. Their engaged efforts on behalf of organizations like The Boys and Girls Club, the American Red Cross, the Piedmont Arts Association or the Salvation Army create a culture of giving and serving at Hooker Furniture, Bradington-Young and Sam Moore.

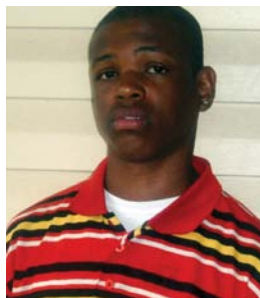

As in years past, Hooker Furniture employees served in leadership roles for the 2011 United Way Campaign, and the company contributed a total of just under $94,000, marking both the largest corporate and employee donations for the campaign. The company's strong commitment to United Way is driven by the organization's role as a single source to impact multiple needs and causes in the community. Another tradition of community service Hooker Furniture maintained this year was sponsoring a baseball clinic and picnic for the Boys and Girls Club and the Martinsville Mustangs college baseball team. The company provided the food, and employees served at the picnic lunch for approximately 100 children and baseball players.

In addition to impacting the local community, Hooker Furniture strives to be a good steward of the environment through sustainable business practices. For the third consecutive year, all eight of Hooker's U.S. facilities across all divisions obtained certification by the American Home Furnishings Alliance (AHFA) as an EFEC company. EFEC—"Enhancing Furniture's Environmental Culture"—is a voluntary environmental management and best practices program for the furniture industry. The company achieved a milestone this year by recycling over one million pounds of paper, plastic and cardboard. Energy-saving utility installations in our warehouses and new boiler controls reduced energy consumption while saving approximately $2,000 per month. The company also continued recycling education programs with community elementary and middle schools this year.
