

NOT MANY COMPANIES CAN DO WHAT POWELL DOES.

For 66 years, we have engineered and packaged solutions for the control, distribution and management of electrical systems. The projects are large and extremely complex. Each one is unique.

Powell has demonstrated an ability to deliver custom-engineered, integrated electrical power solutions based on strong application knowledge, reliable execution and organizational responsiveness. We solve our customers' toughest problems.

To supply the specific requirements of today's energy, utility, transportation and heavy industrial customers, we bring a unique range of application expertise and professional services to bear on the project. Our value comes from our experience, perspective and single-source capability.